

Carnahan Group Goes Virtual
The Carnahan Group team is now working 100% remotely.

TAMPA, FL | June 2, 2021 – Carnahan Group, a leading strategic healthcare advisory firm, decided to shift the company to be 100% virtual.

Prior to the start of COVID-19, the Carnahan Group team was working from home twice a week, so the shift fully to remote work was a slight adjustment for everyone. As most of the work becomes digital in today's world, communication and teamwork have never been this important.

“Looking at the data with the shift to become 100% remote, our employees are more focused at home and just as engaged as before. In our internal surveys, most employees say they are able to be productive at home and live a happier, healthier lifestyle. They can keep up with professional responsibilities as well as make sure their personal lives are thriving. As a company, we have continued to serve our clients without interruption and continue to launch new modules and features on our FMV-MD™ platform. We are excited about what this shift will bring to our team,” says Chris Carnahan, President of Carnahan Group.
